

Administrative Law Review (ALR) (ISSN 0001 8368) is published quarterly by its student staff members at the Washington College of Law of the American University and by the Section of Administrative Law and Regulatory Practice of the American Bar Association. Price per copy to members and nonmembers, $10; per year to members, $10 (included in $60 dues); per year to law student members, $40 (electronic access free); to nonmembers who are not eligible to become members of the American Bar Association, $40 ($45 outside U.S. and U.S. possessions). A subscription form is available in the back of this issue.

ALR endeavors to be a forum for views on developments pertaining to administrative law, the Section of Administrative Law and Regulatory Practice, and other information that it believes to be of interest and use to its members and other readers.

ALR welcomes the submission of original articles, book reviews, and case studies. Submit two copies of your manuscript, double-spaced, in twelve-point Times New Roman font. Footnotes must conform to The Bluebook: A Uniform System of Citation (Nineteenth Edition) published by the Harvard Law Review Association. ALR also generally conforms with the Manual on Usage & Style (11th Edition) published by the Texas Law Review Association.

Manuscripts should be sent to the Editor in Chief, Administrative Law Review, Washington College of Law, The American University, 4801 Massachusetts Ave. NW, Suite 622, Washington, DC 20016. Manuscripts may also be sent electronically to alr.eic@wcl.american.edu, in Microsoft Word 97 format or higher.

Articles published by ALR reflect the views of the individuals or committees that prepared them, and do not necessarily represent the position of the American Bar Association, the Section of Administrative Law and Regulatory Practice, or the editors of ALR.
