Federal Regulations

- Generally, environmental regulations appear in Title 40 of the Code of Federal Regulations.
- Proposed and pending regulations appear in:
 - Federal Register
 - EPA Website
 - Regulations.gov.

Code of Federal Regulations & Federal Register

- Available in print in Federal Materials
- From FDsys.gov (new GPO interface)
- From Hein Online

The screenshot shows the Regulations.gov website in a Mozilla Firefox browser window. The browser's address bar displays the URL <http://www.regulations.gov/search/Regs/home.html#home>. The website's header includes navigation links: Contact Us, About Us, Help, FAQs, Site Map, and an RSS feed. A "SHARE" button is also present.

The main content area features the Regulations.gov logo with the tagline "Your Voice in Federal Decision-Making". Below the logo, a large image of a diverse group of people is shown. To the right of the image, the text "let your voice be heard" is displayed, followed by a description: "Regulations.gov is your source for U.S. government regulations and related documents. On this site you can find, read and comment on documents. Share your knowledge and make your voice count."

Below the image, a section titled "what you can do on this site" includes four icons: "search for a proposed rule", "submit a comment", "read comments", and "search for a final rule". Below these icons, a search bar is provided with the instruction: "Enter a Keyword, ID Number or Comment Tracking Number in the search area below."

The search bar includes a "Select Document Type:" dropdown menu (set to "Search All"), a "Search" button, and checkboxes for "Open for Comment/Submission" and "View results by docket folder". An "Advanced Search" link is also available.

Below the search bar, a section titled "start by finding a rule, comment or other types of documents" is displayed.

At the bottom of the page, there are four boxes: "What's Hot Most Visited Regulations Updated in real time", "Regulations with Comment Periods Closing Soon", "Newly Posted Regulations", and "Regulatory Agenda and Agency Resources".

Below these boxes, a table lists regulations with their titles and closing dates:

Title	Closing Date
Proposed Suspension and Modification of Nationwide Permit 21	Oct 26, 2009
Regulation of Tobacco Products; Request for Comments	Sep 29, 2009
Regulation of Tobacco Products; Extension of Comment Period	Dec 28, 2009

The browser's status bar at the bottom shows the Windows taskbar with the "start" button, several open applications (Inbox - Micro..., Regulations.g..., Document1 - ..., Microsoft Pow...), and the system clock showing 3:16 PM on 10/26/2009.

The browser has several tabs open: "meebo.com", "Ovid: Search Form", and "Desk Tracker".

The Ovid Search Form interface includes a header with the "Wolters Kluwer Health" logo and "OvidSP" branding. Navigation links include "View Selected", "Database Field Guide", "Support & Training", "Help", and "Logout". Below the header, there are links for "Change Database", "Your Journals@Ovid", and "All Journals". On the right, there are links for "Saved Searches/Alerts", "Personal Account", and language options: "English", "Français", "Deutsch", and "Español".

The main search area is titled "Search History (0 searches) (Click to close)". It contains a table with columns: "Searches", "Results", "Search Type", and "Actions". The table is currently empty. Below the table are buttons for "Remove Selected", "Save Selected", and "Combine selections with: and or". A "Save Search History" button is also present.

The "Search" section is titled "Index to Foreign Legal Periodicals 1955 to August 2009". It includes tabs for "Basic Search", "Find Citation", "Search Fields", "Advanced Ovid Search", and "Multi-Field Search". The "Advanced Ovid Search" tab is selected. It features a search form with fields for "Keyword", "Author", "Title", and "Journal". A "Search >" button is located to the right of the "Keyword" field. Below the search form, there is a "Limits" section with a "Latest Update" checkbox and a "Publication Year" dropdown menu. Buttons for "Additional Limits" and "Edit Limits" are also present.

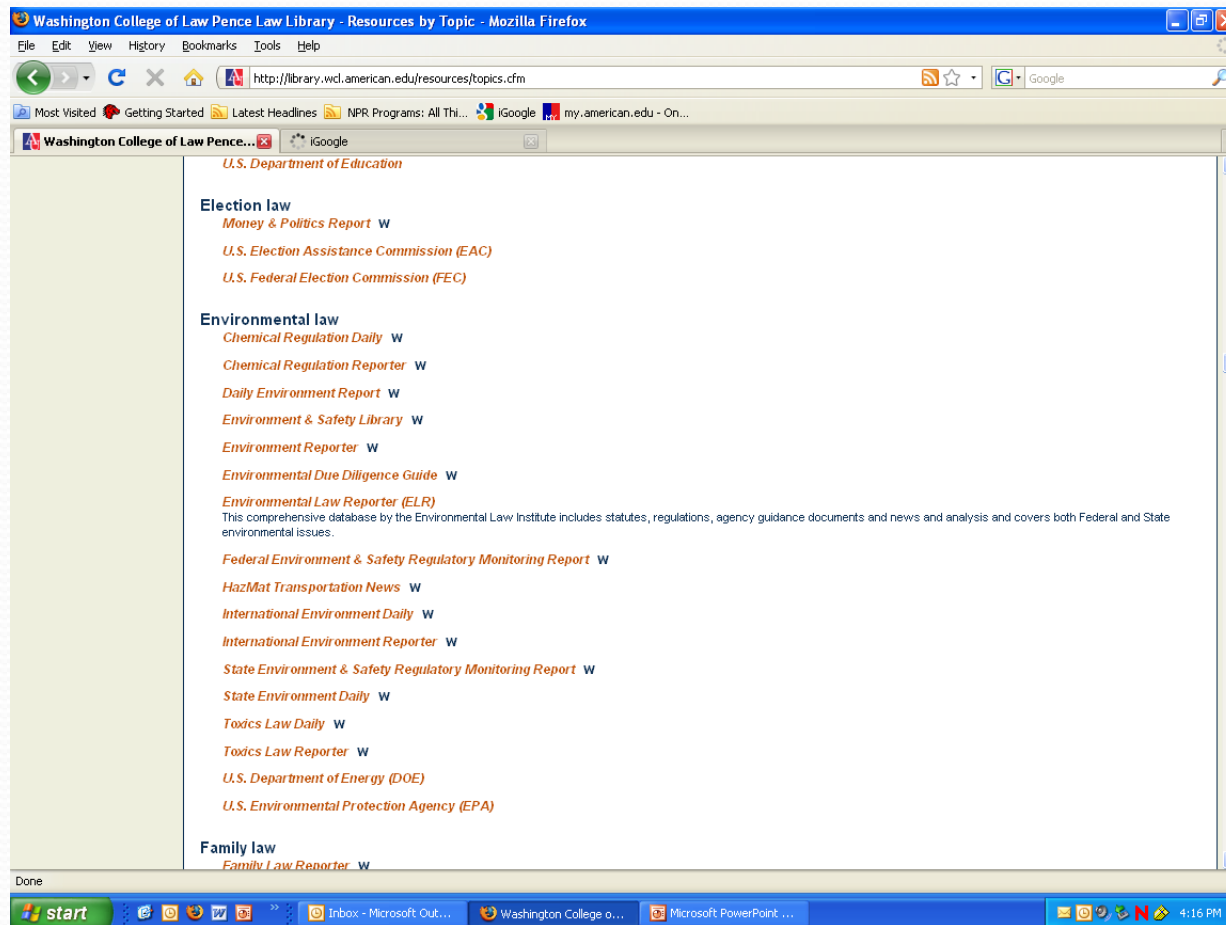

At the bottom of the page, there is a copyright notice: "Copyright (c) 2000-2009 Ovid Technologies, Inc. Allowances in Senate Climate Bill Similar to Those in House Legislation

The revised climate change bill unveiled by Senate Environment and Public Works Committee Chairman Barbara Boxer (D-Calif.) closely tracks formulas the House used for setting aside free emissions allowances for industry, awarding the largest share of the permits--about 35 percent--to electric utilities and certain other power providers at no cost. EPA to Complete Review of Standards for Major Air Pollutants by 2011

EPA will complete a review of national ambient air quality standards for all six major air pollutants by the end of 2011, the agency's top air quality official says. Gina McCarthy, assistant administrator for air and radiation, tells the Air Quality VII conference in Arlington, Va., that the agency has a poor record of complying with the five-year schedule in the Clean Air Act for reviewing air quality standards to keep them up to date. As a result, McCarthy says, courts have imposed deadlines on EPA after lawsuits were filed. More »

Congress Approves 2010 Appropriations Bill With $10.3 Billion for EPA

Congress approves the 2010 appropriations bill for the Department of the Interior, environment, and related agencies, clearing the way for President Obama's signature. The Senate votes 72-28 for the spending measure, and the House votes 247-178 in favor of the bill. The legislation would provide EPA with $10.3 billion for fiscal year 2010--an increase of nearly 36 percent. Among the bill's provisions is a restriction on EPA's ability to implement greenhouse gas rules for certain agricultural operations. More » ... The appropriations bill would provide a substantial increase in funding for wastewater and drinking water programs, but it also would impose a number of conditions on how the money could be used. Decisions and Orders Decisions and Orders originating from EPA's Office of Administrative Law Judges have been posted in either HTML or PDF format. The Decisions and Orders are organized into three categories: (1) alphabetical listing by the respondent involved, (2) reverse chronological listing by date, and (3) Decisions and Orders under FIFRA Section 6. Currently the information on this website includes Decisions and Orders dating back to 1999 in the Reverse Chronological list, Decisions and Orders dating back to 1997 in the Alphabetical list, and a few Decisions and Orders dating back to 1974 under FIFRA Section 6. Please choose the appropriate category below to view documents. You can also use a search page at the Search Administrative Law Judges website for searches in text of HTML documents, and for searches in the captions of PDF and HTML documents.

EPA Administrative Decisions: Environmental Appeals Board

The screenshot shows a Mozilla Firefox browser window displaying the U.S. EPA Environmental Appeals Board website. The browser's address bar shows the URL: http://yosemite.epa.gov/oas/EAB_Web_Docket.nsf/Board+Decisions?OpenPage. The website header features the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency logo and the text "U.S. ENVIRONMENTAL PROTECTION AGENCY" and "Environmental Appeals Board". A search bar is present with a "GO" button. A left sidebar contains a list of links: "Recent Additions", "EAB Dockets", "EAB Decisions", "Federal Court Review", "EAB Guidance Documents", "Electronic Submission", "Upcoming Oral Arguments", "Frequently Asked Questions", "General Information", "The Clerk of the Board", and "Courtroom Technology". The main content area is titled "EAB Decisions" and contains three paragraphs of text. The first paragraph, under the heading "Published Decisions", states that it lists the Board's decisions that have been, or are slated to be, published in the bound volumes of Environmental Appeals Decisions ("E.A.D."). The second paragraph, under the heading "Unpublished Final Orders", states that it lists the Board's final decisions that will not be published in the bound E.A.D. volumes. The third paragraph, under the heading "Other Decisions", states that it lists preliminary decisions that have not been issued as final decisions in CERCLA section 106 reimbursement cases and certain unpublished interlocutory orders of the Environmental Appeals Board. At the bottom of the main content area, there is a link to "EPA Home | Privacy and Security Notice | Contact Us" and a timestamp: "Last updated on 05/13/2005 11:58:12 AM". The browser's taskbar at the bottom shows several open applications, including "Inbox - Microsoft O...", "U.S. EPA Environme...", "Microsoft PowerPoin...", and "WordPerfect 12 - C...".

Research Topics

Air Quality
Resources for the Future research on air quality policy includes analysis of the costs and benefits of air quality regulations, the potential for innovative regulatory approaches, like incentive-based mechanisms, to achieve reductions fairly and efficiently, and the valuation of air quality improvements.

Climate Change
RFF researchers are investigating options for U.S. domestic climate policy at the state and federal levels, international trade and competitiveness issues, alternative international climate policy architectures, approaches for reducing emissions from deforestation and forest degradation, and climate adaptation policy.

Development and Environment
Responding to the challenge of crafting effective environmental policies in settings where regulatory institutions are weak, RFF scholars assess the potential of policy approaches like public disclosure, economic incentives, and voluntary programs for reducing pollution in developing country settings; the environmental impacts of the small firms and how to mitigate them; and the causes of deforestation and possible policy responses.

Ecosystem Management
RFF research integrates economic and ecological information to evaluate management and conservation strategies for forest, fishery, water, and other natural resources. Work on ecosystem services includes the development of economically meaningful definitions of ecosystem services and research-driven recommendations to improve the performance of programs that provide payments for them.

Electricity
Electricity research at RFF focuses on the twin issues of meeting rising demand while at the same time constraining greenhouse gas emissions. RFF's detailed electricity market model provides a laboratory to investigate incentives and likely outcomes of environmental and other policies affecting the supply of electricity, as well as efforts to improve end-use efficiency.

Energy
RFF research on energy focuses on key sectors, including electric power, transportation, and agriculture, as well as evaluating policy options to promote the development and implementation of new technologies. Key topics are energy policy options in the face of the climate challenge and geostrategic implications of U.S. dependence on oil.

Environmental Regulation
RFF scholars examine both the performance of specific regulatory programs and engage in comparative and theoretical studies of the performance of different regulatory approaches.

Food and Agriculture
Often working across discipline and in collaboration with colleagues from other institutions, RFF researchers are assessing options for strengthening public and private food safety risk management systems, water allocation between agriculture and urban use, and the interaction between energy

European Environmental Legislation

The Legislation section of the EEL Website offers you the key legislation at the European level, but also at the international and the national level.

‘EU & EC Treaties’: the present versions of the EU and EC Treaties in which the legal basis for environmental action by the European Union and the European Community is laid down; plus earlier versions of these Treaties (notably Maastricht and Amsterdam).

‘Secondary Legislation’: classified by policy area, the most important European environmental regulations, directives and decisions.

drawing on cooperating institution contributions and expertise.

WHAT'S NEW?
ENTRI's new Conference of Parties (COP) decision search tool allows the user to search decisions produced by the Parties of the following agreements:

- Basel Convention on the Control of Transboundary Movements of Hazardous Wastes and their Disposal (Basel)
- Convention on Biological Diversity (CBD)
- Convention on International Trade in Endangered Species (CITES)
- Convention on Migratory Species (CMS)
- Ramsar Convention on Wetlands of International Importance (Ramsar)
- UN Convention to Combat Desertification (CCD)
- UN Framework Convention on Climate Change (FCCC)
- Kyoto Protocol to the United Nations Framework Convention on Climate Change (Kyoto, 1997)
- Vienna Convention to Protect the Ozone Layer (Vienna)
- Montreal Protocol of the Vienna Convention (Montreal).

These agreements were chosen based on a number of factors, including the number of Parties involved (typically more than 80) and its relative level of activity and global relevance. We update the COP decisions in the database every six months (in December and June).

Tijuana lead smelter cleanup completed

Mexico's Environment Ministry and the US Environmental Protection Agency announced completion of cleanup work on the Metales y Derivados lead smelter site. Some 42,000 tons of lead remained when the Tijuana site was abandoned in 1994, posing health risks to nearby residents.

Metales y Derivados was the subject of a 2002 Factual Record published by the CEC Secretariat following a citizen submission pursuant to Article 14 of the NAAEC received from a coalition of US and Mexican environmental groups.
