

American University International Law Review

---

Volume 35

Issue 2 Academy on Human Rights and Humanitarian Law Articles on the Protection of Migrants Under International Human Rights Law

---

Article 1

2020

Prologue

Claudio Grossman

American University Washington College of Law, grossman@wcl.american.edu

Robert Goldman

American University Washington College of Law, goldman@wcl.american.edu

Follow this and additional works at: <https://digitalcommons.wcl.american.edu/auilr>

Part of the Law Commons

---

Recommended Citation

Grossman, Claudio and Goldman, Robert (2020) "Prologue," American University International Law Review. Vol. 35 : Iss. 2 , Article 1.

Available at: <https://digitalcommons.wcl.american.edu/auilr/vol35/iss2/1>

This Academy on Human Rights and Humanitarian Human Rights Award is brought to you for free and open access by the Washington College of Law Journals & Law Reviews at Digital Commons @ American University Washington College of Law. It has been accepted for inclusion in American University International Law Review by an authorized editor of Digital Commons @ American University Washington College of Law. For more information, please contact kclay@wcl.american.edu.

PROLOGUE

ACADEMY ADVISORY BOARD CO-CHAIRS:
CLAUDIO GROSSMAN* & ROBERT K. GOLDMAN**

We are pleased to write this prologue for the special issue of the American University International Law Review featuring the winning papers from the 2019 Human Rights Essay Award, sponsored by the Academy on Human Rights and Humanitarian Law of American University Washington College of Law.

Since 2003, the Academy has presented the annual Human Rights Essay Award to support and recognize scholarly research concerning international human rights law. Year after year, lawyers from around the world with extensive experience and knowledge of international human rights law submit works of extraordinary rigor and insight. Selected from a highly competitive pool of submissions, awards and honorable mentions are granted to the best articles. Recipients of the award receive a full scholarship, including tuition, travel, and living expenses, to study at the annual Program of Advanced Studies on Human Rights and Humanitarian Law.

This year's submissions addressed the topic "The Protection of Migrants Under International Human Rights Law." The Academy on Human Rights and Humanitarian Law received a tremendous number of submissions from authors representing countries all over the world. We commend all of the participating scholars for the caliber of their research and commitment to studying these vital issues.

In 2019, there were two awards for Best Paper. The 2019 Award for the Best Paper in English was presented to Lillian Robb of Australia for her paper titled "From Cancellation to Removal: The Protection of Migrants of 'Bad Character' in Australia." Mrs. Robb received First Class Honors in * Dean Emeritus and Raymond Geraldson Scholar for International and Humanitarian Law, American University Washington College of Law.

---

** Professor of Law and Louis C. James Scholar, American University Washington College of Law.

Law from Murdoch University in Perth, Australia in 2018 for her thesis, which presented an in-depth exploration of Australia's Migration Act 1958. She is currently based in the Netherlands, studying public and private international law at The Hague Academy of International Law.

The 2019 Award for the Best Paper in Spanish was presented to Tomás Ignacio Pascual Ricke for his paper titled "Ni Refugiados ni Migrantes: La Protección Complementaria en Casos de Migrantes en Situación de Pobreza, a la Luz del Derecho Internacional de los Derechos Humanos." Mr. Pascual Ricke received his LL. M. from the London School of Economic and Political Science in 2016 and his J.D. from the University of Chile in Santiago in 2008. He has experience in criminal litigation regarding grave human rights violations in Chile.

Honorable Mentions for papers in English were awarded to Eirini Papoutsis for her paper titled, "The Protection of Unaccompanied Migrant Minors Under International Human Rights Law: Revisiting Old Concepts and Confronting New Challenges in Modern Migration Flows," and to William Thomas Worster of the Netherlands for his paper titled "Deporting Dreamers as a Crime Against Humanity."

Honorable mentions for papers in Spanish were awarded to diego Alejandro Sanchez Cardenas of Peru for his paper titled "Adultos Mayores en Situación de Migración Forzada: Consideraciones especiales, Desafíos y Acciones a Emprender en Relación al Derecho a la Salud," and to Henan Dario Villamizar Silva of Colombia for his paper titled "Migración de Venezolanos en Colombia: Una Mirada desde los Estándares Internacionales de los Derechos Humanos en Materia Migratoria."

The law school community congratulates all of these scholars for their exceptional articles and appreciates the contributions of all the participants in the Academy's 2019 Human Rights Essay Award Competition.

We would also like to thank the members of the Honor Jury who joined AUWCL Faculty in evaluating the submissions: Gudmundur Alfredsson, Massimo Frigo, Marcia V. J. Kran, Siobhán Mullally, Pia Oberoi, Sandra Ratjen, Diego Rodríguez-Pinzón, Laura Van Waas, Nerea Aparicio, Alvaro Botero, Pablo Ceriani Cernadas, Ana Lorena Delgadillo, Felipe González, Claudia Martin, and Francisco Quintana.

The Academy on Human Rights and Humanitarian Law established the Human Rights Essay Award as part of its broader mission to help address the need for specialized legal training in the practice and theory of international human rights. The Academy, which evolved from the law school's core commitment to promoting human rights and humanitarian law, has emerged as a premier forum for advanced training and analysis concerning the most salient topics in these critical legal fields. Participants acquire valuable knowledge and skills through the examination of issues shaping the world within a context that emphasizes the practical roles and contributions of human rights rules and mechanisms. Such engagement strengthens the professional community that in turn, can help to better address the pressing needs of people around the world.

The Academy's Program of Advanced Studies on Human Rights and Humanitarian Law is held each summer in Washington, D.C., at American University Washington College of Law. The Program's faculty includes the most distinguished scholars and practitioners of human rights and humanitarian law. Courses address a diverse range of key topics including, inter alia, impunity and justice, implementation of human rights in domestic law, women and international human rights law, regional systems of human rights law (Africa and Europe), the rights of disadvantaged and vulnerable groups, and the United Nations human rights system.

Additionally, numerous activities further enrich the participants' experience in the Program, including panels and discussions on key topics and site visits to important institutions such as the Inter-American Commission on Human Rights and the Organization of American States.

The Academy's activities are an important component of the law school's numerous initiatives reflecting its longstanding commitment to strengthening the rule of law and human rights around the world. Other elements include extensive course offerings and externship opportunities, a variety of student-run publications, and law school programs including, inter alia, the Center for Human Rights and Humanitarian Law, War Crimes Research Office, the Kovler Project Against Torture, Clinical Programs, Office of Public Interest, Summer Law Program in the Hague, Impact Litigation Project, the annual trilingual Inter-American Human Rights Moot Court Competition and the LL.M. in International Human Rights and Humanitarian Law.

All of these initiatives reaffirm our community's commitment to helping protect and promote human dignity through the rule of law. The law school will continue to foster and support this core value in future generations of lawyers and to collaborate with institutions, programs, and countries around the world. In this spirit, we would also like to express our deep appreciation to the American University International Law Review for its dedication and contributions to publishing vital international law scholarship, including this special issue each year, which sets forth papers in both English and Spanish concerning key topics in international human rights law.