

2011

Resources for International Commercial Arbitration Events

International Commercial Arbitration Brief

Follow this and additional works at: <http://digitalcommons.wcl.american.edu/ab>

Part of the International Trade Commons

---

Recommended Citation

International Commercial Arbitration Brief. "Resources for International Commercial Arbitration Events." International Commercial Arbitration Brief 1, no. 1 (2011): 7.

This Article is brought to you for free and open access by Digital Commons @ American University Washington College of Law. It has been accepted for inclusion in Arbitration Brief by an authorized administrator of Digital Commons @ American University Washington College of Law. For more information, please contact fbrown@wcl.american.edu.

RESOURCES FOR INTERNATIONAL COMMERCIAL ARBITRATION EVENTS

---

There are many regularly updated online resources that list arbitration events. Listed here are some of these websites in addition to a brief description of the organization.

American Arbitration Association

<http://www.aaauonline.org/courseCalendar.aspx>

The American Arbitration Association (AAA) administers arbitration cases and assists in appointing arbitrators, setting hearings, and providing the parties with information regarding options for dispute resolution. The AAA created with American Arbitration Association University, which provides educational programs that are presented internationally and online. The schedule of these courses is listed at the website above.

ICDR Young & International

<http://www.adr.org/sp.asp?id=33639>

The American Arbitration Association (AAA) created the International Centre for Dispute Resolution® (ICDR) for the exclusive administration of all of the AAA's international matters. The ICDR created Young & International, a professional development organization for international dispute resolution practitioners under the age of 40. Y&I was designed to provide networking opportunities for the younger members of the field. This organization posts events at the web address above. Also, membership in ICDR Young & International is free. Members receive information on upcoming conferences and networking events.

The International Chamber of Commerce

<http://www.iccwbo.org/court/arbitration/>

The International Chamber of Commerce (ICC) International Court of Arbitration is a leading institution in international commercial dispute resolution. It administers cases and also holds arbitration events.

The International Arbitration Planner

<http://www.arbitrationevents.com/public/Default.aspx>

The International Arbitration Planner provides a comprehensive listing of arbitration courses, conferences and seminars internationally. Users can search the website to find events in their areas and can add their own events to the calendar.

London Court of International Arbitration

<http://www.lcia-arbitration.com/>

The LCIA is an established institution for international dispute resolution. It has its own set of arbitration rules and Arbitration Court that regulates the application of the LCIA rules of arbitration. It also provides services in the administration of the arbitration. The LCIA hosts conferences internationally, which are listed at the web address above.

Global Arbitration Review

<http://www.globalarbitrationreview.com/events/>

The Global Arbitration Review (GAR) is an arbitration journal that includes articles in its print edition as well as breaking news items. It also includes a detailed list of arbitration events at the web address listed above.

The Chartered Institute of Arbitrators

<http://www.ciarb.org/events/>

The Chartered Institute of Arbitration (CIARB) is an organization based out of the UK that promotes the development of private forms of dispute resolution. It holds training programs for practitioners and has a range of networking events and promotional opportunities. It also lists events at the web address listed above.

United States Council for International Business (USCIB)

<http://www.uscib.org/calendar.asp>

The USCIB is the national committee to the International Chamber of Commerce (ICC). As such, it serves as the contact point between the United States and the International Court of Arbitration. It supports arbitration practice in the United States by assisting in the nomination of arbitrators, refers attorneys to parties seeking counsel and organizes events. The organization also maintains a calendar of events at the web addresses listed above.